Impact:

The awareness programmes had a positive impact on the participants, as they gained a better understanding of the importance of trees and forests in maintaining ecological balance. Many students and local residents pledged to plant more trees and take care of the existing ones.

Conclusion:

The NSS unit of Maynaguri College succeeded in spreading awareness about social forestry through innovative and engaging programmes. The efforts of the students and faculty members have contributed significantly to the promotion of environmental conservation and sustainable living practices in the community.
